

On 9 – 10 October 2015, a forum on ‘Forging a Common Humanity - A Civic Responsibility’ attracted well over a hundred participants from various faith organizations, as well as individuals. The topics were drawn from consultations with the faith leaders. The forum examined topics from the core principles of the sacred texts to interfaith relations. The 2-day forum succeeded as a facilitator to bring faith and community along on a shared journey of promoting religious and social harmony in our diverse community.

The forum ended with a community friendship dinner to which some 400 guests were invited.
